FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Mets fans donate more than 2,300 pounds of food

Thanks to the generosity of St. Lucie Mets fans, the Treasure Coast Food Bank collected 2,364 pounds of food, which will provide about 2,234 meals for those in need on the Treasure Coast.

Keep Port St. Lucie's annual Appreciation Night at Tradition Field allows fans to watch the game for free when they bring in two non-perishable food items as a donation to the Treasure Coast Food Bank. More than 2,300 fans attended the game against the Jupiter Hammerheads on April 8, and over half of them made a food donation.

This partnership event is a great way to bring awareness to both Keep Port St. Lucie Beautiful and the Treasure Coast Food Bank. Representatives from both groups greeted fans at the entrance, thanked them for their donations and shared information about upcoming events.

Keep Port St. Lucie Beautiful truly appreciates the support of this great community!
