SUBJECT: High School History teacher arrested for sending a lewd photo to a student via social media application

On May 19, 2016, United States Federal Marshal Regional Fugitive Task Force arrested Daniel Morgan (DOB 7/28/86, 18750 Misty Lake Drive, Jupiter, Florida) for transmission of material harmful to minors to a minor by electronic device and use of computer to seduce, solicit, lure or entice child after Morgan send a lewd photo to a former student.

The investigation began on May 13, 2016 when a school administrator at St. Lucie West Centennial High School reported that Morgan, a 10th grade History teacher, had sent inappropriate text messages to a student.

Port St. Lucie Police Detectives continued the investigation by reviewing the snapchat account of the victim, a student at the high school. The investigation revealed several correspondences between Morgan and the student via snapchat. At some point during the snapchat interaction between the two, Morgan sent the student a lewd photograph.

Detectives then made contact with Morgan and verified that he had used snapchat and communicated via the application with the student.

A warrant was issued for Morgan's arrest and he was apprehended by the Marshals and taken to the Palm Beach County Jail.
